

ONAM CELEBRATION (28th August)

The Malayalam month of Chingam brings a lot of happiness and positivity as the people of Kerala celebrate the harvest festival, Onam. To celebrate Onam means, to celebrate together, to share happiness together but in this crucial situation it is something that is forbidden. But the brilliant minds of NCS (K) has again proved that we can even celebrate the great festival by holding our hands virtually.

NCS (K) celebrated Onam with utmost happiness and spirit of enthusiasm. The students put up a spectacular show which brought everyone to the festive mood. Through a beautiful presentation the students illustrated the myth behind Onam. They presented the importance each day from “Atham” to “Thiruvonam”. Never forget to highlight the importance of special programmes associated with Onam-like Pulikali, Vallam Kali, etc.

The virtual treat was indeed a visual treat which instilled a kind of ecstasy and prosperity in the mind of viewers. Each moment made everyone to believe that they were celebrating the festival together. Students recreated the day and made everyone to enjoy the virtual “onasadhya, oonjalattam, athappookkalm, thiruvathira , mohiniyattam etc.”

The nightingales of NCS (K) made the day remarkable with their soothing and loving Onam songs. The arrival of Mahabali was another delight who in turn made his fellow people not to forget to celebrate Onam at home itself.

HAPPY ONAM
